DETAILED ACTION

Papers Received

Receipt is acknowledged of the applicant's amendment, response, petition for extension of time, and request for continued examination, all received on 06 June 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

The rejection of Claims 14-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Green et al. in view of Paul are rendered moot with the cancellation of those claims.

Claims 36-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ohtsuki et al. (PCT Publication No. WO 98/15196) For the sake of convenience, all references will be made to an English-language equivalent, U.S. Patent No. 6,197,758.

The Ohtsuki et al. reference teaches compositions comprising oligosaccharides (See Abstract). Suitable saccharides include fructo-oligosaccharides and galacto-oligosaccharides (See Column 3, Lines 4-22). In one form, mixtures of oligosaccharides may be used to embody the invention (See Column 3, Lines 31-36). Carbohydrates, sugar alcohols, and other components such as minerals may also be included in the disclosed compositions (See Column 3, Line 37 to Column 4, Line 25; and Examples).

Art Unit: 1618

Although the prior art is silent with respect to precise ratios of one oligosaccharide to another, it is the position of the examiner that it is well within the purview of one of ordinary skill in the art to optimize compositions of the prior art through routine experimentation. Regarding Claim 47, this composition claim is largely drawn to a future intended use of the instantly claimed invention. As such, the examiner does not give the claim patentable weight. As the prior art has broadly disclosed the primary components of the instantly claimed invention, it is the position of the examiner that the instantly claimed invention is made obvious by the prior art. Thus, the instantly claimed invention is prima facie obvious.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 06 June 2006 have been fully considered but they are moot in view of the new grounds for rejection detailed above.
